DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-4, drawn to diagnostic reagents, classified in class 530, subclass 300.
(Please note if this group is selected further select one sequence to be examined on the merits, and amend the claims accordingly, see below for explanation)
- II. Claims 5, 6, drawn to method of identifying T cells that recognize HCMV, classified in class 435, subclass 5. (Please note if this group is selected further select one sequence to be examined on the merits, and amend the claims accordingly, see below for explanation)
- III. Claims 7, 8, drawn to method of identifying T cells that recognize HCMV with reagent which comprises antigen presenting cells, classified in class 435, subclass 325. (Please note if this group is selected further select one sequence to be examined on the merits, and amend the claims accordingly, see below for explanation)
- IV. Claims 9, 10, drawn to method of diagnosing exposure to HCMV, classified in class 435, subclass 7.1. (Please note if this group is selected further select one sequence to be examined on the merits, and amend the claims accordingly, see below for explanation)

- V. Claims 11, 12, drawn to method of determining the degree of HCMV immunostimulation in a patient suffering from HCMV, classified in class 435, subclass 6. (Please note if this group is selected further select one sequence to be examined on the merits, and amend the claims accordingly, see below for explanation)

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions of Groups I and II-V are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the product of Group I can be utilized in a different method such as induction of immune response.

Inventions of Groups II-V are mutually exclusive and patentably distinct methods which are substantially different. The multiple methods have different uses. The examination of all groups would require different searches in the U.S. Patent Shoes, in house and commercial databases, and scientific literature and would require the consideration of different patentability issues.

Upon election of Group I, II, III, IV, or V Applicant is additionally required to elect a single Sequence identified by a specific sequence identification number, as indicated above as they apply to group(s). The recited sequences have different structures one from other and the search for the sequences would be unduly burdensome. This requirement is not to be construed as a requirement for an election of species, since each of the sequence(s) is not a member of a single genus, but constitutes an independent and patentably distinct invention.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
